In partnership with Comann Eachdraidh Uibhist a Tuath, Taigh Chearsabhagh is pleased to present our heritage exhibition 'Ceòl Uibhist a Tuath'.

This exhibition 'Ceòl Uibhist a Tuath' takes a look at the music of North Uist across the ages. We journey through the works of John MacCodrum and Dòmhnall 'Ruadh' Choruna who still influence present-day musicians, such as singers Julie Fowlis, Linda MacLeod and the band Beinn Lee, who have all played major roles in modernising the tradition. Songwriters Calum and Rory MacDonald are known the world over as part of the band 'Runrig'. Here you will find poetry, music, song, piping, dance music and field workers who played an important role in the preservation of oral and written works. Music's influence on the fashion of the day is also apparent, as photographs will testify.

■ Exhibition - The Music of North Uist

Fri 08/09/2023 (All day) ↻

Location: Taigh Chearsabhagh Museum And Arts Centre (Lochmaddy, Isle Of North Uist, Scotland, HS6 5AA, United Kingdom)

Tuesday 2nd May - Saturday 28th October

Time: During Taigh Chearsabhagh opening hours

In partnership with Comann Eachdraidh Uibhist a Tuath, Taigh Chearsabhagh is pleased to present our heritage exhibition 'Ceòl Uibhist a Tuath'.

This exhibition 'Ceòl Uibhist a Tuath' takes a look at the music of North Uist across the ages. We journey through the works of John MacCodrum and Dòmhnall 'Ruadh' Choruna who still influence present-day musicians, such as singers Julie Fowlis, Linda MacLeod and the band Beinn Lee, who have all played major roles in modernising the tradition. Songwriters Calum and Rory MacDonald are known the world over as part of the band 'Runrig'. Here you will find poetry, music, song, piping, dance music and field workers who played an important role in the preservation of oral and written works. Music's influence on the fashion of the day is also apparent, as photographs will testify.

Tickets: £3 Adults, £1.50 Concessions, FREE for under 12s
